To Whom It May Concern,

I was grateful that Mr. Shukla spent time in service at Mercy Springfield engaged in Data Analytics this past summer. I was impressed with the level of professionalism and dedication he showed over his time here. His data mining and data parsing skills were excellent. His understanding of what was important to the end user showed true thoughtfulness and his work was not in vain. There were several insightful analyses he was able to present that were immediately helpful for operational consideration. He had wonderful interpersonal skills and worked well on a high-performance team. I would heartily recommend him and would consider you lucky to gain him as a team member.

Respectfully,

Kara Lamelza
